PREFACE

This is the thirteenth annual edition of the Black Elected Officials: A National Roster compiled by the Joint Center for Political Studies. Since 1971, when the first Roster was published, we have witnessed a steady—though not always dramatic—increase in the number of black elected officials, from fewer than 1,500 to 5,700. This rate of growth is impressive indeed. In fact, however, blacks, who make up about 12 percent of the total population, still hold only 1.2 percent of the nation's elective offices. Thus, for over thirteen years, the Roster has been a unique record of both successes and frustrations in one extremely important area of black political participation, namely, holding elective office.

In early 1983 the Joint Center undertook an in-depth assessment of its Roster project, seeking new ways to improve our research methodologies, to make the information more timely, and to distribute the Roster more broadly. Two major decisions came out of this assessment. First, as is explained in the Overview, we changed the cut-off date for our annual census of black elected officials from June 30 to January 30, thereby making it possible for us to assess relatively quickly the results of elections held in November.

The second major decision was to engage UNIPUB, a division of the R. R. Bowker Company, to publish the Roster. UNIPUB has considerable experience in publishing books for nonprofit organizations like the Joint Center. We expect UNIPUB to expand the sale and distribution of the Roster, thus making it more accessible to individuals, organizations, libraries, and other users.

The Joint Center will continue to be responsible for the collection and analysis of all data contained in the Roster and for editorial decisions.

The Roster was prepared by the Joint Center's Office of Research, under the supervision of Dr. Milton Morris, director of research. The project was managed by Denise Goins-Stockton, special assistant to the director of research. Alfred Baltimore, Roster project clerk, has been a mainstay of the Roster project for several years—tirelessly reviewing news clips, verifying names and offices, and keeping tallies. Other members of the office of research who assisted in the project were Devonda Byers, Anthony McKnight, Lauretta Williams, Beverly Nedd, and Panola Golson. Two student interns, Suzanne Thomas and Melody Ewing, also made valuable contributions. The Joint Center gratefully acknowledges their outstanding efforts.

BLACK ELECTED OFFICIALS IN 1984: AN OVERVIEW

With this volume, Black Elected Officials: A National Roster, 1984, the Joint Center for Political Studies provides its growing audience with much-improved coverage of black Americans who hold elective office. In doing so, we offer our apologies for not publishing a Roster in 1983. A brief period of reorganization was necessary to produce a volume that not only is more complete and up-to-date but is also being made available on a much broader scale.

Between 1971 and 1982, the Joint Center produced the Roster each year, identifying blacks in office as of June 30. Unfortunately, the June 30 cut-off date meant that we did not reflect important electoral gains and losses that occurred during November until the following fall, which sometimes led to confusion. Many high-visibility elections take place in November—most notably congressional elections.

We have remedied this situation by moving the cut-off date from June 30 to January 30, thereby enabling our researchers to include information on November elections in a more timely manner.

Although we did not publish a Roster in 1983, we collected information on blacks in office, as of June 30, and published the results in a press release, which received broad coverage, and in the February 1984 issue of FOCUS, the Joint Center's monthly newsletter. We reported that there was a substantial increase in the number of black elected officials between 1982 and 1983. The number increased by 8.6 percent, from 5,160 to 5,606—the sharpest percentage gain since 1976 (see Figure 1) and one of the largest numerical increases in the past ten years.

To facilitate an orderly and accurate transition from the June 30 cut-off date to the January 30 cut-off date, we conducted a second nationwide census between July 1, 1983, and January 30, 1984. The results of this census are reported in this edition of the Roster and will establish a basis for annual comparisons in future Rosters.

During the seven-month transition period, the number of black elected officials increased by 1.7 percent, or a total of 94 persons. The 5,700 blacks who currently hold elective office comprise nearly 1.2 percent of the 490,800 elected officials in the country. Blacks make up about 12 percent of the total population of the United States.

Since 1971, when the Joint Center first began publishing the Roster, the largest proportion of black elected officials has been in municipal and education positions, and the smallest proportion in federal, state, and county positions (Table 1). In 1984, the largest numerical gain came at the municipal level, with the addition of 38 black elected officials, for a new total of 2,735 black municipal officials.

In 1984 the largest percentage increase among the various categories of officials was in the judicial and law enforcement area (4.8 percent), followed by county officials (2.6 percent) and municipal officials (1.4 percent). There was a small decrease among education officials and no change among federal officials.

Nineteen states had a net gain in black elected officials, 14 had a net loss, and 17 states experienced no change (Table 2). The largest increases were in Louisiana (30), Georgia (17), California (14), and Pennsylvania and South Carolina (11 each).

Geographic Distribution

The South, which contains 53 percent of the country's black population, contains 62 percent of all black elected officials (BEO). Twenty percent of BEOs are in the North Central states, which contain 20 percent of the black population (Table 3; see also Figure 2). Since most black candidates depend largely upon support from the black electorate in order to win, it is not surprising that there is a direct relationship between the geographic distribution of BEOs and the distribution of the black population (Table 4).

The states with the largest number of BEOs have substantial black voting-age populations (VAP). Louisiana, with 438 BEOs, has a black VAP of 27 percent; Mississippi, with 430 BEOs, has a black VAP of 31 percent; Illinois, with 359 BEOs, has a black VAP of 13 percent; Alabama, with 311 BEOs, has a black VAP of 23 percent; and Georgia, with 301 BEOs, has a black VAP of 24 percent.

Federal

Office-holders at the federal level include U.S. senators, representatives, and delegates. As of January 1984, there were 20 black representatives, comprising 4.6 percent of the 435 members of the House. In addition, the District of Columbia is represented in the House by Congressman Walter E. Fauntroy, a nonvoting delegate. A black has not served in the Senate since 1978, when Edward R. Brooke (R-MA) was defeated. All of the black representatives are Democrats who come from urban districts (Table 5). All but five represent districts that are predominantly black.

Nine black members of Congress (43 percent) come from the North Central states. The Northeastern, Southern, and Western regions each have 4 black representatives.

State

At the state level, BEOs hold 15 executive and 385 legislative positions.

State executive offices generally include governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, treasurer, auditor, controller, members of state education boards, and various agency commissioners. While the terms of office for these executives vary from state to state, most serve for four years.

Of the 15 state executives, 4 are administrators and 11 are members of state education boards. One administrator and 8 education officials serve in the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Most state legislatures are bicameral—that is, they comprise two bodies, an upper and a lower house. Nebraska and the Virgin Islands have unicameral legislatures, consisting of a Senate only. State legislatures vary in size, from 60 members in Alaska and Nevada to 424 members in New Hampshire. Blacks make up 5 percent of all state legislators in the United States.

In January 1984, 385 BEOs served in the legislatures of 42 states and the Virgin Islands (Table 6). There were 86 black senators and 299 black representatives—1 more senator and 9 more representatives than in June 1983.

Blacks make up 17.1 percent of the legislature in Alabama; 12.8 percent in Massachusetts; 12.4 percent in South Carolina; and 11.5 percent in Michigan and Mississippi. I. DeQuincey Newman, who won office in November 1983, is the first black elected to South Carolina's state Senate since 1888. Legislative reapportionment facilitated the election of 5 additional legislators in Alabama and 3 additional legislators in Mississippi. The states with the largest number of black state legislators are Georgia (25), Alabama (24), and Maryland (24). Illinois is the state with the largest number of black senators (6), and there are 13 black senators in the Virgin Islands.

Substate Regional

Included under this heading are 6 elected members of intergovernmental bodies that administer activities involving two or more counties or municipalities. Some of the services provided by regional bodies include transportation, park maintenance, recreation, conservation, and fire protection. California has 3 black members of such regional bodies; Illinois has 2; and North Carolina has 1. Also listed under the heading of substate regional bodies are 24 members of the Board of Elections in the Virgin Islands.

County

Organized county governments are found in 48 states. Connecticut and Rhode Island have no organized counties. Parishes in Louisiana and boroughs in Alaska handle functions performed by counties in other states and are, therefore, treated as counties in the Roster. Elected county officials generally include members of county governing bodies, commissioners, judges, tax collectors and assessors, coroners, and clerks.

There were 518 black county officials in January 1984, a total of 22 more than in June 1983. They comprise 9 percent of all BEOs. At the county level, the largest increase was for members of county governing boards—from 420 to 447. As a result of redistricting, Louisiana, which has the largest number of black county officials (106), had the largest gain in county governing board members (18).

Municipal

Included under the "municipal" heading are mayors, members of municipal governing bodies, members of municipal boards, neighborhood advisory commissioners, and other municipal officials.

Municipal officials make up the largest number of BEOs—2,735, or 48 percent. There are 255 black mayors, 8 more than in June 1983 (Table 7). Four newly elected black mayors administer cities with populations over 50,000: W. Wilson Goode of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Harvey B. Gantt of Charlotte, North Carolina; James A. Sharp of Flint, Michigan; and Lawrence D. Crawford of Saginaw, Michigan. Altogether, 28 black mayors are in cities with populations of 50,000 or more. Other black municipal officials include 2,056 members of governing bodies, 67 members of other municipal boards, 234 advisory neighborhood commissioners, and 123 other municipal officials.

Judicial and Law Enforcement

There are 636 BEOs in elective judicial and law enforcement offices: 345 judges; 231 officials serving as constables, magistrates, and justices of the peace; 34 police chiefs, sheriffs, and marshals; and 26 other judicial and law enforcement officials. Between July 1983 and January 1984, the number of black judicial and law enforcement officials increased by 4.8 percent. Note that because the Roster does not include appointed officials, federal judges and state-appointed judges are not included.

Education

Education officials comprise nearly 25 percent of all BEOs. The January 1984 total represents a small decrease (– 0.4 percent) from June 1983. These officials, who serve at the state, county, and municipal levels, include 11 members of state education agencies, 45 members of university and college boards, 1,300 local school board members, and 15 other education officials.

Female Black Elected Officials

The 1,259 black women who hold elective offices comprise 22 percent of all BEOs (Table 8). Between July 1983 and January 1984, the number of female officials increased by 36, or 2.9 percent. There are 2 U.S. representatives, 75 state legislators, 14 regional officials, 64 county officials, 602 municipal officials, 78 judicial and law enforcement officials, and 424 education officials.

The largest numerical increases were at the municipal and judicial/law enforcement levels. States that experienced the largest increases in black female office-holders were California (11), Connecticut (10), and Georgia (8).

The geographical distribution of female BEOs is similar to that of all BEOs (Table 9). The largest percentages are in the South (53.7 percent) and in the North Central states (23.1 percent).

States with the largest number of female BEOs are Michigan (92), New York (87), Illinois (75), California (71) and Mississippi (71). The District of Columbia has 113 black female office-holders.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The Roster is arranged by state or territory. Within each state or territory, entries are grouped according to category of office, beginning with federal offices, followed by state offices, and then local offices. Overlap does exist (e.g., education offices include offices at state, substate regional, county, and municipal levels), but the pattern of overlap is consistent. Individual entries contain the official's name, title, jurisdiction, preferred mailing address, and date on which the term of office expires. The Roster state pages, which precede entries for each state, contain basic population data and information on governmental organization within the state.

The term "elected officials" includes only persons elected by popular vote to public office in a governmental capacity. Elective offices are those authorized by the U.S. Constitution, state law, or special provision. Not included are persons elected to leadership positions in political parties (committee members, district leaders, ward or precinct captains); public officials who are selected by boards, commissions, or councils; and appointed officials. However, persons appointed to fill vacancies on elected bodies and persons who eventually face election for retention (e.g., some judges) are included.

Twenty-eight black elected officials who hold two offices at once were identified this year. Both offices held are listed, with an asterisk (*) placed beside each entry. However, double office-holders are counted only once in the total number of BEOs.

Some individuals are identified as officers of elective bodies on which they serve. For example, many elected school board members are identified as president, vice-president, secretary, or treasurer of their particular board, despite the fact that they were not elected by voters in this capacity. In all cases where elected officials are identified as officers of elective bodies, the expiration date provided applies to their elective position.

Data Collection

Data for the Roster were collected through questionnaires mailed to all black elected officials listed in the Joint Center's computer data base, through telephone contacts with these individuals or the government or public bodies on which they serve, and through a national newspaper clipping service.

Two mailings of the questionnaire were made. Both questionnaires requested updated information on the BEO, including party affiliation and term of office, and asked for any information that could be provided on newly elected officials or those not listed in the current volume of the Roster. Because this Roster is the first one using the new cut off dates, questionnaires were used only for those officials elected prior to June 30, 1984.

Those Roster entries with terms of office that ended during the period July 1983 through January 1984 were verified by phone to ascertain whether or not those public officials were still holding elective office and if any new BEOs were serving in that capacity. Additionally, a large number of BEOs whose terms did not expire within this Roster year were verified randomly.

ALABAMA
314 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Alabama is 3,893,888; the black population is 996,335, or 26 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,812,000; and the black voting age population is 644,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,887,000; the number of black registered voters is 372,000.

FEDERAL: Alabama has 7 congressional districts. Blacks constitute a substantial percentage of the populations of the First District (Mobile), 31 percent; the Second District (Montgomery), 31 percent; the Third District (Anniston), 28 percent; the Sixth District (Birmingham), 34 percent; and the Seventh District (Tuscaloosa), 33 percent.

STATE: The Alabama legislature convenes in Montgomery. The 35 members of the Senate and the 105 members of the House of Representatives are all elected from single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 67 counties in Alabama and 272 members of county governing bodies, Counties are governed by commissions consisting of 3 to 7 members. Most commissioners are elected for 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are a total of 434 municipal governments in Alabama and 2,065 governing board members. A minimum population of 75 is usually required for incorporation. Elections for municipal officers are held every 4 years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Alabama, like most states, has a hierarchy of courts consisting of a supreme court, intermediate appellate courts, trial courts of general jurisdiction, and a variety of inferior courts. The appellate court system consists of the court of civil appeals and the court of criminal appeals. There are 9 supreme court judges, 3 civil appeals court judges, and 5 criminal appeals court judges. The trial court system consists of circuit, district, and municipal courts. There are 39 circuit courts and 113 circuit court judges, 66 district courts, and 89 district court judges.

There are approximately 329 municipal courts and 68 probate courts. All judges are elected to serve 6-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 127 school districts in Alabama—67 county school systems and 60 city school systems. All are administratively and fiscally independent. There are 391 elected school officials. City school boards ordinarily consist of 5 members appointed by the city council or commission for staggered 5-year terms. Most county school boards have 5 members elected at large for 6-year terms. County school board members are elected during the general election of state and county officers.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Alabama has 390 special districts or authorities. None of the 1,636 special district board members are elected.

ALASKA

2 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Alaska is 401,851; the black population is 13,643, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 287,000; and the black voting age population is 9,800. The total number of registered voters is 197,000; the number of black registered voters is 4,000.

FEDERAL: The entire state of Alaska constitutes one congressional district, which is 3 percent black.

STATE: The Alaska legislature is composed of 20 members of the Senate, elected from 16 districts, and 40 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 22 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Juneau.

COUNTY: Alaska has 8 borough governments. Seven are administered by borough assemblies, which perform functions similar to those of county governments in other states. All areas that lie outside of organized boroughs or city-borough governments constitute a single unorganized borough, which is administered by the state legislature. Depending upon the population size of a borough, between 5 and 11 assembly members serve on a governing board. Most assembly members are elected by district and serve 3-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 142 city governments in Alaska and 699 governing board members. Three city-borough governments—Anchorage, Juneau, and Sitka—are classified as municipalities. Most members of municipal governing bodies serve 3- to 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 64 courts in Alaska and 102 judicial officials—42 judges and 60 magistrates. There are 5 supreme court judges and 21 superior court judges, serving 10- and 6-year terms, respectively. Initially, judges are appointed by the governor to serve a term upon recommendation of the Alaska Judicial Council. After judges' terms expire, they may run for election. No law enforcement officials are elected in Alaska.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The Alaska Board of Education governs the educational system. Members of the state board are appointed by the governor and approved by the legislature. Alaska has 52 school districts, each of which has a locally elected board of 5 to 11 members, who serve staggered 3-year terms. School board elections are held every October. In addition, each of the 21 districts in the unorganized borough may have an optional advisory committee. These advisory groups are also elected locally.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Alaska has 6 special districts.

ARIZONA
14 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Arizona is 2,718,215; the black population is 74,977, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,061,000; and the black voting age population is 52,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,109,000.

FEDERAL: Arizona has 5 congressional districts. The Second District (Phoenix-Yuma) has the largest percentage of black residents, 6 percent.

STATE: The Arizona legislature convenes in Phoenix. The 30 members of the Senate are elected from single-member districts and the 60 members of the House of Representatives are elected from 30 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: The 14 counties in Arizona are governed by 43 supervisors, serving on county boards. Most of the boards have 3 or 5 members, who are elected by district and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 76 municipalities and 418 members of governing boards. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 1,500. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 159 courts in Arizona and approximately 175 judgeships. There are 5 supreme court judges, 15 appeals court judges, and 81 superior court judges. Supreme court and court of appeals judges are elected in nonpartisan races for 6-year terms. Judges for courts of general and limited jurisdiction are elected for 4-year terms. Other judges are selected as mandated by local charters. Elected sheriffs and constables serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 232 school districts in Arizona. Public schools are administratively and fiscally independent, with the exception of accommodation schools, which provide education in sparsely populated areas and are under the jurisdiction of county school superintendents. Local school boards have 3 or 5 members, depending on the type of district. Board members are elected for 4-year terms. School board elections are held on general election days. Nine community college districts come under the authority of the state Board of Directors for Community Colleges. Three state universities are administered by a Board of Regents.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 130 special districts or authorities. Board members are usually elected.

ARKANSAS

296 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Arkansas is 2,286,435; the black population is 373,768, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,650,000; and the black voting age population is 233,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,068,000; the number of black registered voters is 147,000.

FEDERAL: Arkansas has 4 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Pine Bluff) has the largest percentage of black residents, 28 percent. The First District (Jonesboro) is 19 percent black, and the Second District (Little Rock) is 17 percent black.

STATE: The Arkansas General Assembly, which convenes in Little Rock, consists of 35 members of the Senate, elected from single-member districts, and 100 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 84 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: The 75 counties in Arkansas are served by 750 governing board members, known as justices of the peace, who sit on quorum or levying courts in each county. The courts vary in size from 9 to 15 members, depending on the population of the county. All members of the quorum courts are elected from single-member districts for 2-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 472 cities and towns, and 2,592 municipal governing board members in Arkansas. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in even-numbered years. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 413 courts and approximately 303 judgeships in Arkansas. The 7 supreme court and 6 appeals court judges serve 8-year terms. The 33 chancery and 30 circuit court judges serve 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. All other judges are elected for 2-year terms. There are 75 elected sheriffs and coroners, who serve 2-year terms. Constables, who are elected from townships, also serve 2-year terms. Marshals are authorized for all cities with at least 500 residents.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The state's 372 school districts are administratively and fiscally independent units of government under the direction of locally elected boards. The boards vary in size from 5 to 8 members. The 2,019 school board members in the state serve staggered terms of either 3, 4, or 5 years, with the length of term determined by the size of the board. Elections are held annually on the second Tuesday in March.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are approximately 505 special districts in Arkansas, which perform a wide variety of services. Most special districts perform a single function, such as conservation, mosquito abatement, fire protection, or water distribution.

CALIFORNIA

258 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of California is 23,667,902; the black population is 1,819,281, or 8 percent of the total; total voting age population is 18,277,000; and the black voting age population is 1,298,000. The total number of registered voters is 10,528,000; the number of black registered voters is 836,000.

FEDERAL: California has 45 congressional districts. The districts with the largest percentages of black residents are the Twenty-ninth (Los Angeles-Downey), 47 percent black; the Twenty-eighth (Los Angeles-Inglewood), 43 percent; the Thirty-first (Compton-Carson), 34 percent; and the Eighth (Oakland-Berkeley), 27 percent. Seven other districts have black populations of at least 10 percent.

STATE: The California legislature convenes in Sacramento. The 40 members of the Senate and the 80 members of the Assembly are all elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; assembly members serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: All of California's 57 counties are governed by 5-member boards of supervisors elected by district to 4-year terms, except the city-county of San Francisco, which has an 11-member board of supervisors.

MUNICIPAL: California's 428 municipalities are governed by about 2,185 board members, all elected in nonpartisan elections. Municipalities are designated as cities or towns depending on the size of their populations. The city-county of San Francisco has a consolidated government. Most elections are held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 255 courts and 1,192 judgeships in California. Supreme court and court of appeals judges are initially appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Commission on Judicial Appointments. The appointees serve until the earliest gubernatorial election. They are then subject to a nonpartisan retention election for a 12-year term. The 7 supreme court judges, 53 appeals court judges, and 628 superior court judges all serve 6-year terms. Superior court judges, municipal court judges, and justices of the peace are elected on nonpartisan ballots. There are 58 elected sheriffs and 51 elected coroners. Seven county coroners are appointed. Sheriffs and coroners serve 4-year terms. Constables, elected by justice-of-the-peace district, serve 6-year terms. There are also 3 elected commissioners for each police protection district.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 1,111 school districts, with approximately 5,565 school board members. All of these officials are elected for 4-year terms of office.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 2,506 special districts and authorities.

COLORADO

15 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Colorado is 2,889,964; the black population is 101,703; or 4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,225,000; and the black voting age population is 71,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,397,000.

FEDERAL: Colorado has 6 congressional districts. The First District (Denver) has the largest percentage of black residents, 12 percent.

STATE: The Colorado General Assembly comprises 35 seats in the Senate and 65 seats in the House of Representatives; all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Denver.

COUNTY: The 62 counties in Colorado are governed by 193 commissioners, who serve 4-year terms. Most of the counties elect commissioners at large; however, El Paso County elects commissioners by district, and Weld and Pitken counties, which are home-rule counties, elect commissioners under their respective charters. The city-county of Denver, a consolidated governmental unit which is classified as a municipality, has no commission.

MUNICIPAL: There are 267 towns and cities in Colorado. Towns are governed by 6-member boards of trustees. Boards of aldermen or city councils serve as the governing bodies for cities. The number of board officials in each city varies according to the number of wards in the city. Two members are elected from each ward. The city-county of Denver is considered a municipality but also functions as a county. Most officials serve 2-year terms. Elections are usually held every odd-numbered year, in November, except in Denver, which holds its elections in May.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Colorado has 22 judicial districts, 220 courts, and approximately 483 judgeships. There are 7 supreme court judges, 10 appeals court judges, and 107 district court judges. Judges are appointed to 2-year terms by the governor.

After judges' 2-year terms expire they may run for election for full terms of 4, 6, or 10 years. Municipal court judges are appointed by the municipal governing body to serve no less than 2-year terms; they may serve on a part-time basis. There are 63 sheriffs and coroners, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The 185 school districts in Colorado are independently governed by elected school boards. Total school board membership is approximately 1,200.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,030 special districts in Colorado.

CONNECTICUT

69 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Connecticut is 3,107,576; the black population is 217,433, or 7 percent of the total; the total voting age population is 2,378,000; and the black voting age population is 143,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,641,000; the number of black registered voters is 75,000.

FEDERAL: Connecticut has 6 congressional districts. Blacks make up 11 percent of the First District (Hartford), 10 percent of the Third District (New Haven), and 11 percent of the Fourth District (Stamford-Bridgeport).

STATE: The Connecticut General Assembly comprises 36 seats in the Senate and 151 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and the Senate are elected from single-member districts. They serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Hartford.

COUNTY: Although county boundaries are retained for election and judicial purposes, there are no organized county governments.

MUNICIPAL: The 182 municipalities in Connecticut include 149 townships, 11 boroughs, and 22 cities. Three to 5 selectmen are elected at large to govern each town. Boards of aldermen or councilmen govern the cities and boroughs. Municipal officials serve 2-year terms. Elections are held in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Connecticut has 219 courts and 247 judgeships. There are 6 supreme court judges and 121 superior court judges. Judges of the supreme and superior courts are appointed by the General Assembly upon nomination by the governor, and serve 8-year terms. Probate judges are elected on partisan ballots and serve 4-year terms. There are 8 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms. There are 1 to 7 elected constables per township serving 1- or 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Most of the 166 school districts are administratively and fiscally independent. There are 1,312 school board members, who serve 2- or 4-year terms. Elections are held the first Tuesday in November of every odd-numbered year.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 281 special districts and authorities in Connecticut. Board members are either elected or appointed, depending upon the district or authority.

DELAWARE

22 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Delaware is 594,338; the black population is 95,845 or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 443,000 and the black voting age population is 63,000. The total number of registered voters is 274,000.

FEDERAL: The state of Delaware constitutes one congressional district, which is 16 percent black.

STATE: Delaware's General Assembly convenes in Dover. There are 21 seats in the Senate and 41 seats in the House of Representatives: all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 3 counties in Delaware and 19 governing board members, who serve 2- or 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 56 cities and towns in Delaware, all chartered by the state legislature. There are 334 members of governing boards.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 91 judgeships in Delaware. Five judges serve on the supreme court, 11 on the superior court, 3 on the court of chancery, 7 on the court of common pleas, 9 on the family court, 3 on the municipal court in Wilmington, and 53 on the justice-of-the-peace courts. All judges are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state Senate. Sheriffs are elected to 2-year terms in each county. Many of the municipalities have alderman courts with judges appointed by the city or town council. The state Department of Justice is administered by the attorney general and is the top law enforcement agency in Delaware.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 19 local school districts, governed by 119 school board members. Sixteen school boards have elected officials, who serve 5-year terms. Three county vocational-technical school districts' board members are appointed by the governor.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Delaware has a total of 139 special districts and authorities. Board members of the park districts in New Castle County are the state's only elected special district officers.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

252 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of the District of Columbia is 638,333; the black population is 448,906 or 70 percent of the total; total voting age population is 487,000; and the black voting age population is 320,000. The total number of registered voters is 267,000; the number of black registered voters is 171,000.

FEDERAL: The District of Columbia constitutes one congressional district and elects one nonvoting delegate to the House of Representatives.

MUNICIPAL: The District of Columbia is classified as a municipality; however, it also performs state and county functions. There is an elected city council, with 5 members and a chairperson elected at large. An additional 8 members are elected from wards. Council elections are held in even-numbered years, and members serve 4-year terms. An elected mayor also serves a 4-year term. Members of advisory neighborhood commissions are elected from single-member districts and serve the city government in an advisory capacity.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 2 courts and 53 judgeships in the District of Columbia. Judges who serve on the court of appeals (9) and the superior court (44) are nominated by the president of the United States and approved by the U.S. Senate; they serve 15-year terms. One judge in each court is designated by the president of the United States to serve as chief judge for a term of 4 years or until a successor is appointed.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The District of Columbia has 190 schools and an 11-member board of education, which is elected on a nonpartisan basis. There is one school district in Washington, D.C. The board is classified as an agency of the municipal government rather than as an independent governing body. Three board members are elected at large, and the others are elected from wards. Board members serve 4-year terms. Elections are held the first Tuesday in November of every odd-numbered year.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There is 1 independent special district. Board members are appointed.

FLORIDA

131 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Florida is 9,746,324; the black population is 1,342,688, or 14 percent of the total; total voting age population is 8,169,000; and the black voting age population is 923,000. The total number of registered voters is 4,812,000; the number of black registered voters is 464,000.

FEDERAL: Florida has 19 congressional districts. Thirteen districts are more than 10 percent black. Both the Third and Seventeenth Districts (Jacksonville and North Miami) have black populations of 27 percent. The Second District (Tallahassee) has a black population of 24 percent.

STATE: The Florida legislature comprises 40 members of the Senate, elected from 19 districts, and 120 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 45 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Tallahassee.

COUNTY: There are 66 counties and 354 governing board members. Commissioners are elected by district except in Volusia County, where council members are elected at large, and in Duval County, where council members are elected at large and by district. Most county boards have 5 members, who serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: Florida has 391 municipalities, which include cities, towns, and villages, and approximately 2,000 governing board members. Municipalities are established by special acts of the state legislature or by general law. Under general law, the minimum population for incorporation is 1,500 persons. The city of Jacksonville and the county of Duval have consolidated to form a municipal government. There is no uniform schedule for municipal elections.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 7 supreme court judges, 45 judges of district courts, and 326 circuit court judges are elected on nonpartisan ballots for 6-year terms. County judges are elected for 4-year terms. As of January 3, 1977, all municipal courts were abolished. There are approximately 92 courts, with 510 judges. Florida has 67 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 95 school districts in Florida, which include 67 county school systems and 28 junior college districts. A total of 349 elected school board members govern the school districts.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: A total of 417 special districts and authorities provide a variety of services including erosion prevention, navigation, library, hospital, and lighting services.

GEORGIA

301 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Georgia is 5,463,105; the black population is 1,465,181, or 27 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,040,000; and the black voting age population is 982,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,327,000; the number of black registered voters is 510,000.

FEDERAL: Georgia has 10 congressional districts. The Fifth District (Atlanta) is 65 percent black. Four other districts have black populations of more than 30 percent: the First District (Savannah), 33 percent; the Second District (Albany), 37 percent; the Third District (Columbus), 34 percent; and the Eighth District (Macon), 35 percent. The Tenth District (Augusta), has a black population of 25 percent.

STATE: The General Assembly comprises 56 seats in the Senate, all filled from single-member districts, and 180 seats in the House of Representatives, all filled from 154 districts. Members of the General Assembly serve 2-year terms and convene in Atlanta.

COUNTY: There are 158 counties in Georgia and 625 county commissioners. Governing board members are elected either by district or at large, as determined by the county, and most serve 4-year terms. Governing boards usually consist of 3 to 5 members. In 23 counties, however, a sole county commissioner is the governing authority, and a county probate judge governs one county.

MUNICIPAL: The 533 municipalities in Georgia are classified as towns and cities. There are 2,667 governing board members. A minimum population of 200 is required for municipal incorporation. The city of Columbus and the county of Muscogee are consolidated to form one municipality. There is no uniform schedule for municipal elections.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 524 courts in Georgia, with approximately 691 judgeships. Most of the judges are elected on a partisan ballot. The 7 supreme court and 9 court of appeals judges serve 6-year terms. The 116 superior court judges serve 4-year terms, except in the Atlanta circuit, where the judges serve 8-year terms. There is a probate court in each county, with a probate judge who serves a 4-year term. Some judges of small claims courts and other county and municipal courts are appointed. There are 159 sheriffs, 154 coroners, and 429 justices of the peace, all elected to serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 187 districts governed by 1,114 school board members; 758 board members are elected to serve 4-year terms. There are 28 independent school systems and 33 universities.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 390 special districts and authorities.

HAWAII

1 Black Elected Official

POPULATION: The total population of Hawaii is 964,691; the black population is 17,364, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 716,000; and the black voting age population is 14,000. The total number of registered voters is 434,000.

FEDERAL: Hawaii has 2 congressional districts. Blacks comprise 2 percent of the population of District Two (Oahu-Outer Islands) and 1 percent of District One (Honolulu).

STATE: There are 25 seats in the Senate; members are elected from 8 districts. The House of Representatives has 51 seats; members are elected from 27 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Honolulu.

COUNTY: There are 3 counties with organized county governments: Hawaii, Kauai, and Maui. Kalawao County includes the Kalaupapa Settlement and is governed by the state Department of Health. Oahu County, known as the city-county of Honolulu, is classified as a municipality. There are 34 members of county governing bodies, who serve either 2- or 4-year terms, depending upon the county.

MUNICIPAL: The combined city-county of Honolulu is Hawaii's only organized municipality. There are 9 members on the city council. Each member is elected from a separate city council district and serves a 4-year term. In 1980, the Office of Hawaiian Affairs was established to oversee the utilization of and proceeds from lands held in public trust for the Hawaiian people. The office also advocates better conditions for native Hawaiians. A special election is held every 2 years to elect the 9 members of the Board of Trustees of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. This election is restricted to registered voters of Hawaiian ancestry.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Hawaii has 51 judicial positions. Five supreme court, 21 circuit court, and 3 intermediate appellate court judges are appointed by the governor for 10-year terms. There are 18 district court judges and 5 district family court judges, who are appointed to 6-year terms by the chief judge of the state supreme court. The prosecuting attorneys of the counties of Hawaii and Kauai and the city-county of Honolulu are the only elected law enforcement officials of the state.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: All educational services are provided by the state government. There is one Board of Education made up of 13 members elected from 2 school board districts—10 members elected at large from the First School Board District (city-county of Honolulu), and 3 members elected at large from the Second School Board District (counties of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai).

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 14 special districts; only soil and water conservation districts count as governments, however.

IDAHO

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Idaho is 943,935; the black population is 2,716, or 0.3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 661,000; and the black voting age population is 2,000. The total number of registered voters is 435,000; the number of black registered voters is 1,000.

FEDERAL: Idaho has 2 congressional districts. Both districts have black populations of less than 1 percent.

STATE: The Idaho legislature comprises 35 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from single-member districts, and 70 seats in the House of Representatives, whose members are elected from 35 districts. Members of the legislature, which convenes in Boise, serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 44 counties in Idaho and 141 county commissioners, all of whom are elected at large. Most boards of commissioners have 3 members. One member serves a 4-year term, and the other 2 members serve 2-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: The 198 municipalities in Idaho are all classified as cities, although the terms town and village are used occasionally. A total of 871 council members govern the cities. Each council consists of 4 or 6 members, who serve 2-year terms. Elections are held in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 45 courts and 32 judgeships in Idaho. The 5 supreme court and 31 district court judges are elected in nonpartisan elections for 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. Three intermediate appellate court judges serve 10-year terms. District court magistrates are appointed by a commission and serve 2-year terms. After initial appointment, the magistrates stand for election. There are 44 elected sheriffs and coroners, serving 4- and 2-year terms, respectively. Constables are elected from each precinct and serve 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 117 school districts in Idaho and 575 elected board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 659 special districts or authorities in Idaho.

ILLINOIS

359 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Illinois is 11,426,518; the black population is 1,675,398, or 15 percent of the total; total voting age population is 8,346,000; and the black voting age population is 1,077,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,842,000; the number of black registered voters is 819,000.

FEDERAL: Illinois has 22 congressional districts. The First and Second Districts (South Side Chicago and Lake Calumet Chicago) have the largest black populations, 92 and 70 percent, respectively. Another district with a sizable black population, the Seventh District (West Side Chicago), has a 67 percent black population.

STATE: The General Assembly comprises 59 senators, elected from single-member districts, and 177 representatives, elected from 59 districts. Senate members serve staggered terms of 2 or 4 years. House members serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Springfield.

COUNTY: There are 102 counties and 1,516 elected board members. Eighty-five counties have organized township governments, and the others are governed by boards of commissioners. The membership of county governing bodies ranges from 3 to 29 officials. Township board members serve 4 years; commission members serve 3 years. Special county provisions require that 10 of the 16 commissioners serving Cook County come from Chicago.

MUNICIPAL: There are 1,280 municipalities and 8,050 governing board members in Illinois. In addition, there are 1,434 townships, each of which is administered by a supervisor and a board of trustees. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in odd-numbered years. The minimum population required for municipal incorporation is 2,500 persons living within 4 square miles. The minimum for village incorporation is 200 persons living within 2 square miles.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme court judges, 34 judges serving 5 appellate court districts, and 383 judges and 310 associate judges serving 21 circuit court districts.

Judges of the supreme and appellate courts are elected for 10-year terms, circuit court judges for 6-year terms, and associate judges of the circuit court for 4-year terms. Judges are first elected to office in partisan elections. Before their terms of office expire, supreme court, appellate court, and circuit court judges who have been elected to office may make declaration to succeed themselves. Retention in office for another term requires an affirmative vote of three-fifths of the electors voting on the question. A separate ballot without party designation is constitutionally required. Illinois has 102 sheriffs and 94 coroners, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 1,049 school districts. All are independent administratively and fiscally. The school districts are governed by 6,800 elected school board members, who serve for either 2 or 4 years. School board elections are held in odd-numbered years.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 2,602 special districts or authorities.

IOWA

5 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Iowa is 2,913,808; the black population is 41,700, or 1 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,094,000; and the black voting age population is 25,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,430,000.

FEDERAL: Iowa has 6 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Des Moines) contains the largest percentage of black residents, 3 percent.

STATE: The Iowa General Assembly comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives; each member of the General Assembly is elected from a single-member district. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Des Moines.

COUNTY: There are 99 counties and 424 elected county supervisors in Iowa. Most supervisors are elected at large and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 955 municipalities in Iowa governed by 4,729 elected board members. Most board members serve 4-year terms. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Iowa has 157 judges serving in 100 courts. There are 9 judges of the supreme court, serving 8-year terms; 5 judges of the appeals court, serving 6-year terms; and 95 judges and 39 associate judges of the district courts, serving 6-year terms. All judges are nominated by a judicial nominating commission and appointed by the governor to serve until the next general election, usually within 1 to 2 years. At the end of their term, judges must run for retention. There are also 166 magistrates and 9 senior judges, serving in lower courts. One sheriff is elected for each county.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The 456 public school districts are independent administratively and fiscally. Approximately 2,400 elected members serve on the local school boards. Fifteen area school systems provide 2-year community colleges and vocational education. These area school systems, which are independent administratively and fiscally, have 124 elected board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 361 special districts and authorities in Iowa are administered by 1,148 elected board members.

KANSAS

27 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Kansas is 2;363,679; the black population is 126,127, or 5 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,750,000; and the black voting age population is 84,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,147,000; the number of black registered voters is 32,000.

FEDERAL: Kansas has 5 congressional districts. The Third District (Kansas City), with a black population of 10 percent, has the largest percentage of black residents. It is followed by the Second District (Topeka) and the Fifth District (Emporia), which are both 7 percent black.

STATE: The Kansas legislature convenes in Topeka..There are 40 seats in the Senate and 125 seats in the House of Representatives. Members of the Senate and House are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 105 counties; the 322 governing board members are elected by district for 4-year terms. All board members serve on boards of commissioners, generally composed of 3 members. One county (Coffey) has a 5-member board of commissioners.

MUNICIPAL: There are 627 municipalities and 3,128 governing body members. Forms of government vary widely among municipalities. However, most governing body members serve 2- or 4-year terms. Kansas also has 1,367 townships, but they have very limited functions. Most duties are performed by the counties. The principal administrators of the townships are trustees, who serve 4-year terms. A minimum population of 300 is required for municipal incorporation.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Kansas has recently implemented a court unification plan. The state judiciary is now composed of the supreme court (with 1 chief judge and 6 other judges), the court of appeals, and 29 judicial court districts. There are approximately 10 judgeships in the district courts. Supreme and appellate court judges are initially appointed by the governor, for 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. At the end of their terms, judges must be retained by the voters. District court judges are elected for 4-year terms. One sheriff is authorized for each county, but Riley County has combined city and county law enforcement and elects no sheriff. One marshal is authorized for each city with 14,999 inhabitants or less. There are 29 coroners.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: In Kansas, 326 school districts are governed by about 2,250 elected school board members. The school districts are administratively and financially independent. Board members usually serve 4-year terms. There are 18 community college districts. School board elections are held the fourth Tuesday in April.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,370 special districts governed by 6,097 board members, who serve 1- to 4-year terms.

KENTUCKY

57 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Kentucky is 3,660,777; the black population is 259,477, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,620,000; and the black voting age population is 176,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,732,000; the number of black registered voters is 114,000.

FEDERAL: Kentucky has 7 congressional districts. The Third District (Louisville) has the largest percentage of black residents, 20 percent.

STATE: The Kentucky General Assembly comprises 38 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the General Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Kentucky General Assembly convenes in Frankfort.

COUNTY: There are 119 counties in Kentucky and 731 board members. Of these board members, 120 are elected at large, 48 are elected at large with district residence requirements, and 563 are elected by district. Fiscal courts, as the boards are called, usually have 4 to 9 members, who serve 4-year terms. The members of fiscal courts include magistrates and the county judge.

MUNICIPAL: There are 425 municipalities, which include towns and 6 classes of cities, categorized by size. Over 3,000 board members serve on governing bodies for 2 or 4 years. Communities must have 125 inhabitants to incorporate.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The supreme court, court of appeals, and circuit courts make up the court of justice. The 7 supreme court judges and the 14 judges from the court of appeals are elected from 7 appellate districts. There are 91 circuit court judges elected from 56 judicial circuits. Appellate and circuit court judges serve 8-year terms. Police judges are elected in first-, second-, and third-class cities. Beginning in January 1978, all lower courts and the judicial functions of county judges were abolished. The lower courts were replaced by district courts, with 113 judges, elected from 56 judicial districts, serving 4-year terms. There are 120 elected sheriffs and coroners, serving 4-year terms. Constables are elected in counties with a population of 250,000 or more. Counties with fewer than 250,000 inhabitants elect justices of the peace (magistrates), who also serve on the fiscal court. One constable is authorized for each justice-of-the-peace district.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 180 school districts, including 120 county and 60 city school districts. All members of the school boards are elected. The 935 school board members serve 4-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Kentucky has 517 special districts governed by 1,047 board members.

LOUISIANA

438 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Louisiana is 4,205,900; the black population is 1,238,241, or 29 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,055,000; and the black voting age population is 813,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,068,000; the number of black registered voters is 557,000.

FEDERAL: Louisiana has 8 congressional districts. Seven districts have black populations that exceed 20 percent. The two districts with the largest black populations are the Second District (New Orleans), 59 percent, and the Eighth District (Alexandria), 38 percent.

STATE: The Louisiana legislature, which convenes in Baton Rouge, comprises 39 seats in the Senate and 105 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and Senate are elected from single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 62 parishes (counties) in Louisiana and about 650 governing body members. In all except 4 parishes, police juries serve as the parish governing body. Police jury members are elected from districts within the parishes, and serve 4-year terms. The governing bodies for the 4 other parishes are: Jefferson Parish, the parish council; Plaquenmines, the commission council; and the parishes of Orleans and East Baton Rouge are consolidated with the cities of New Orleans and Baton Rouge, respectively. The city of New Orleans and the parish of Orleans are governed jointly by a city council. The city of Baton Rouge and the parish of East Baton Rouge are governed jointly by a commission council.

MUNICIPAL: There are 301 municipalities and 1,268 governing board members in Louisiana. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 300 in most places. Depending on size, incorporated communities are classified as cities, towns, or villages. Most municipalities hold elections every 4 years, in even-numbered years. The major cities are governed by a charter, drawn up by the citizens and approved by the voters.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 244 judges in Louisiana are elected in partisan elections, and terms of office vary among the 90 courts. The 7 supreme court judges and 48 appeals court judges serve 10-year terms. The 167 district court judges serve 6-year terms. The supreme court is the highest court followed by the circuit court of appeals, various district courts, juvenile and family courts, and municipal courts. Each of the 64 counties elects one sheriff and one coroner, except Orleans County, which elects both a civil and criminal sheriff. Sheriffs and coroners serve for 4 years.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 66 school districts administered by 64 public school boards. The 669 school board members are elected to staggered 4- or 6-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Louisiana has 39 independent special districts. Most special district board members are appointed.

MAINE

2 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Maine is 1,124,660; the black population is 3,128, or 0.3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 831,000; and the black voting age population is 2,500. The total number of registered voters is 706,000; the number of black registered voters is 1,000.

FEDERAL: Maine has 2 congressional districts. The black population of each district is 0.3 percent.

STATE: The state Senate has 33 seats; members are elected from single-member districts. The House has 151 seats; members are elected from 119 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Augusta.

COUNTY: There are 16 counties in Maine and 48 governing board members. In 15 counties, board members are elected by district. At-large elections are held in the other county. Three county commissioners, elected for 4-year terms, serve each county.

MUNICIPAL: There are 22 governments classified as cities, 431 as townships, and 44 as plantations. Towns are governed by boards of selectmen and plantations are governed by boards of assessors. Most municipalities hold annual elections.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme court judges, 14 superior court judges, 25 district court judges, and 16 probate judges. All are appointed to 7-year terms by the governor, except probate judges, who serve 4-year terms. Sixteen sheriffs are elected for 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 98 school district governments and 196 dependent public school systems. Several types of school boards serve the school systems in Maine. These include 194 municipal boards, 75 school administrative district boards, 13 community school district boards, and 3 native American reservation boards. The 1,701 school board members in the state are elected for 3-year terms on a rotating basis.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 195 special districts in Maine served by 392 elected board members.

POPULATION: The total population of Maryland is 4,216,975; the black population is 958,150, or 23 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,190,000; and the black voting age population is 664,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,096,000; the number of black registered voters is 407,000.

FEDERAL: Maryland has 8 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Seventh District (Baltimore), which is 73 percent black. Two other districts contain black populations of more than 20 percent: the Fourth District (Annapolis), 21 percent, and the Fifth District (Prince George's County), 35 percent.

STATE: The Maryland General Assembly has 47 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. There are 141 seats in the House of Delegates; members are elected from 47 districts. All legislators serve 4-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Annapolis.

COUNTY: There are 23 counties in Maryland and 107 governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. County councils exist in 8 home-rule counties, and boards of county commissioners exist in 12 counties. The counties of Kent, Worcester, and Allegany are home-rule counties and are also governed by boards of commissioners. Baltimore City is an independent city and is separate from Baltimore County.

MUNICIPAL: Maryland has 152 municipalities and 721 governing body members. Most board members serve 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Most of the 241 judgeship positions are initially filled by gubernatorial appointment. Judges subsequently run for retention on nonpartisan ballots after at least one year of service. District court judges are appointed to 10-year terms, and the 69 orphan's court judges are elected in partisan elections to 4-year terms. Maryland has 73 courts. In addition, registrars of wills, who serve as clerks of the orphan's courts, are elected. There are 24 elected sheriffs.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: School districts in Maryland are not independent administratively and fiscally; they are administered by each of the 23 county boards of education. Only 7 of the 23 school districts in Maryland elect school board members. Each of these districts elects 5 board members to 4- or 5-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 264 special districts in Maryland are governed by 579 elected board members.

MASSACHUSETTS

32 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Massachusetts is 5,737,037; the black population is 221,279, or 4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,394,000; and the black voting age population is 149,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,979,000; the number of black registered voters is 86,000.

FEDERAL: Massachusetts has 11 congressional districts. The Ninth District (Boston-Taunton), with a black population of 16 percent, has the largest percentage of black residents.

STATE: The Massachusetts General Court convenes in Boston; it comprises 40 seats in the Senate and 160 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts and serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 12 counties in Massachusetts and 36 board members, all of whom are elected by district. The boards of commissioners in most counties have 3 members, who serve 4-year terms. Two other counties, Nantucket and Suffolk, lack distinctly organized county governments. The area and the governing body of Nantucket are identical with that of Nantucket town. Suffolk County is consolidated with the city of Boston.

MUNICIPAL: Massachusetts has 39 municipal and 312 township governments. There are 450 council members serving on the municipal governing boards and 1,124 selectmen serving on the township boards. Council members generally serve 2-year terms, and selectmen, 1- to 3-year terms. The minimum population requirement for municipal incorporation is 12,000.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Massachusetts has 91 courts. There are 7 supreme court judges, 10 appeals court judges, and 264 trial court judges. Judges are appointed for life or until they reach 70 years of age. One sheriff is elected for each of the 14 counties, and at least one constable is elected for each town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: According to state law, 2 or more towns may establish regional school districts. There are 81 such districts, which are administratively and fiscally independent. The other 354 school systems in Massachusetts are considered agencies of town, city, or county governments. There is one adult education district. The number of school board members varies from board to board, and there is no uniform term of service.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Massachusetts has 354 special districts and 1,154 elected board members.

MICHIGAN

297 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Michigan is 9,262,078; the black population is 1,199,023, or 13 percent of the total; total voting age population is 6,554,000; and the black voting age population is 767,000. The total number of registered voters is 4,739,000; the number of black registered voters is 553,000.

FEDERAL: Michigan has 18 congressional districts. The districts with the largest percentage of black residents are the First and Thirteenth, both 71 percent black. The First District includes Highland Park and a portion of Detroit. The Thirteenth District contains the inner city of Detroit. Other districts with significant black percentages are the Seventh (Lansing-Pontiac) and Seventeenth (Detroit-Southfield), 15 and 13 percent black, respectively.

STATE: The Michigan legislature convenes in Lansing; it comprises 38 seats in the Senate and 110 seats in the House of Representatives. All House and Senate members represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 83 counties in Michigan. All 852 county commissioners, who serve 2-year terms, are elected by district.

MUNICIPAL: The 532 cities and villages in Michigan comprise its municipalities. In addition, Michigan has 1,245 townships. A total of 3,110 governing board members are elected to serve 2- or 4-year terms. Most elections are held in March or November, of odd-numbered years. The minimum population required for incorporation is 2,000 for a city and 250 for a village.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Michigan has 242 courts and 561 judgeship positions. There are 7 supreme court judges, 18 court of appeals judges, 165 circuit court judges, and 29 recorder's court judges in Detroit. All judges are elected in nonpartisan elections. Most serve 6- to 8-year terms. There are 83 elected sheriffs, 1 authorized for each county. A medical examiner is appointed to serve each county. Four constables are authorized for each township, and 1 constable is authorized for each ward in fourth-class cities.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: All of the 599 local school districts in Michigan are independent administratively and fiscally. There are also 29 community college districts and 13 state supported 4-year colleges and universities. The number of members serving on boards varies, but most boards have 7 members who serve 4-year terms. Elections are usually held annually, in April or June, or during the odd-year general election.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Michigan's 184 special districts are governed by 355 elected board members.

MINNESOTA
9 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Minnesota is 4,075,970; the black population is 53,344, or 1 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,988,000; and the black voting age population is 33,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,507,000.

FEDERAL: Minnesota has 8 congressional districts. The Fifth District, Minneapolis, is 6 percent black and contains over half of the state's black population.

STATE: The Minnesota legislature comprises 67 seats in the Senate and 134 seats in the House of Representatives; all members of the House and Senate represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in St. Paul.

COUNTY: There are 87 counties and 443 governing board members, all elected by district. All commissioners are elected for 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 855 municipalities in Minnesota, including 104 home-rule cities and 751 statutory cities. In addition, there are 1,792 townships. The municipalities and townships are governed by 9,040 elected board members, who serve 2- to 4-year terms. Most cities hold annual elections, in November.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 9 supreme court judges, 72 district court judges, 108 county court judges, and 28 municipal court judges. Most serve 6-year terms. One sheriff and one coroner are authorized for each of the 87 counties (one county appoints its coroner). Two constables are authorized for each township. Sheriffs and coroners serve 4-year terms and constables, 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The 436 school districts in Minnesota are independent administratively and fiscally; they are served by 2,800 board members, elected to 3-year terms. Elections are generally held annually, in May.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 356 special districts are governed by 618 elected board members.

MISSISSIPPI

430 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Mississippi is 2,520,638; the black population is 887,206, or 35 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,745,000; and the black voting age population is 541,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,337,000; the number of black registered voters is 410,000.

FEDERAL: Mississippi has 5 congressional districts. Each has a substantial percentage of black residents. The Second and Fourth districts (Mississippi Delta and Jackson) contain the largest percentages of blacks, 54 and 45 percent, respectively. The First District (Tupelo) is 26 percent black, the Third District (Meridian) is 31 percent black, and the Fifth District (Gulfport-Biloxi) is 20 percent black.

STATE: The legislature, which convenes in Jackson, comprises 52 seats in the Senate and 122 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 82 counties in Mississippi, each of which is divided into five districts. Supervisors are elected from each district to serve on the county's board of supervisors, and each of the state's 410 supervisors serves a 4-year term.

MUNICIPAL: Mississippi has 292 municipalities and 1,400 governing board members. Municipalities can incorporate as cities, towns, or villages. In order to do so they must have minimum populations of 2,000, 300, and 50, respectively. Elections for municipal officers are generally held in June. Governing board members usually serve 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The Mississippi judicial system consists of the supreme, chancery, circuit, family, county, municipal, and justice courts. Chancery court judges are authorized as chancellors and justice court judges as justices of the peace. There are approximately 550 judgeships. There are 9 supreme court judges, 38 chancery court judges, and 35 circuit court judges. Supreme court judges are elected to 8-year terms. Justice court judges serve for 4 years. Municipal court judges are appointed and serve at the will of the municipality. Chancery and circuit court judges are elected to 4-year terms. Serving for 4 years each are 82 sheriffs and 82 coroners (1 elected per county), 415 constables (1 elected per supervisor district, except in Hinds County, which has 2 per supervisor district), and municipal marshals, who are elected to the position in the absence of a police force.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 169 school districts in Mississippi, including 68 county unit school districts, 28 consolidated school districts, 52 municipal school districts, 5 special municipal separate school districts, and 16 junior college districts. Approximately 570 elected school board members serve on governing bodies. County unit school board members are elected to 6-year terms. Consolidated school board members are elected at large to 5-year terms. Municipal separate school boards appoint and elect board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 315 special districts served by 267 elected board members.

MISSOURI

151 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Missouri is 4,916,686; the black population is 514,276, or 11 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,640,000; and the black voting age population is 339,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,595,000; the number of black registered voters is 260,000.

FEDERAL: Missouri has 9 congressional districts. The First District, which includes the northern part of St. Louis, is 52 percent black. The Fifth District (Kansas City) is 23 percent black.

STATE: The Missouri General Assembly comprises 34 seats in the Senate and 163 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the General Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators are elected for 4-year terms; representatives for 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Jefferson City.

COUNTY: There are 114 counties and 346 elected governing board members. Most board members are elected by district and serve 2- or 3-year terms. Counties are divided into 4 categories on the basis of their total assessed valuation. Class 1 cities are assessed at $300 million or more, class 2 cities at $70 million to $300 million, class 3 cities at $10 million to $70 million, and class 4 cities at less than $10 million.

MUNICIPAL: Missouri has 926 municipalities and 325 townships. The minimum population requirement for city incorporation is 500 residents. Villages are incorporated municipalities with less than 500 inhabitants. Cities with more than 5,000 residents may adopt charters for their own government and become constitutional charter cities. Other municipalities are divided into 2 classes. Third-class municipalities have 3,000 or more residents. Fourth-class municipalities have 500 to 3,000 residents. First- and second-class city classifications were abolished in 1975. The municipalities are governed by 5,366 elected councilmen, aldermen, and trustees. Most elections are held during the spring. Terms of office vary among municipalities.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 531 courts in Missouri are served by 547 judges. There are 7 supreme court judges, 31 court of appeals judges, and 131 circuit court judges. Judges of the supreme and appellate courts are appointed for 12-year terms. With the exception of circuit court judges in the city of St. Louis and a few counties, all judges are elected on a partisan ballot. In addition, there are 114 elected sheriffs and coroners—one authorized for each county—who serve 4-year terms. One constable is authorized for each magistrate district. One marshal is elected for municipalities with populations of 10,000 to 30,000 in first-class counties, in third-class mayor-council cities, and in fourth-class cities.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Missouri has 550 school districts. All are independent administratively and fiscally. There are 3,309 school board members, all elected. Boards generally have 6 members, serving 3-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,195 special districts and 3,082 elected board members.

MONTANA

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Montana is 786,690; the black population is 1,786, or 0.2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 569,000; and the black voting age population is 1,100. The total number of registered voters is 402,000.

FEDERAL: Montana has 2 congressional districts. Each has a black population of less than 0.5 percent.

STATE: There are 50 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and Senate are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Montana legislature convenes in Helena.

COUNTY: There are 54 counties in Montana and 168 governing board members. Fifty-two counties operate with traditional 3-member county commissions; members are elected at large, with district residence requirements. One county has a 5-member commission, and one county is administered by a county manager. Two of Montana's counties, Anaconda-Deer Lodge County and Butte-Silver Bow County, have consolidated with cities to form city-county governments.

MUNICIPAL: Montana has 126 municipalities and 638 elected governing board members. The most prevalent form of government is the mayor-council. The terms of service for council members vary according to jurisdiction.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme court judges, elected for 8-year terms, and 31 district court judges, who serve for 6 years. All judges, including municipal and justice-of-the-peace court judges, are elected on a nonpartisan ballot. Vacancies on the supreme and district courts are filled by appointment. Montana has 55 elected sheriffs and coroners, who serve 4-year terms. Two constables are elected for each township.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 399 administratively and fiscally independent school districts and 3 community college school districts, served by over 1,500 school board members. All are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 450 special districts served by 684 elected board members.

NEBRASKA

4 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Nebraska is 1,569,825; the black population is 48,390, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,144,000; and the black voting age population is 30,000. The total number of registered voters is 789,000; the number of black registered voters is 17,000.

FEDERAL: Nebraska has 3 congressional districts. The Second District (Omaha) is 8 percent black.

STATE: The Nebraska legislature is the only unicameral state legislative body in the United States. There are 49 seats for 49 legislative districts. All legislators are elected for 4-year terms. The legislature convenes in Lincoln.

COUNTY: There are 93 counties in Nebraska and 401 members of county governing bodies. County governing bodies are usually called boards of commissioners. In counties where there are township governments, governing bodies are called boards of supervisors. Board members generally serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: The municipalities in Nebraska include 535 cities and villages. There are 471 townships. Cities are divided into 4 classes according to population. The minimum population requirement for incorporation as a village is 100. There are 2,655 elected board members governing the municipalities. Township boards have a total of 1,413 members. Most municipal board members serve 4-year terms. Most elections are held every 2 years, in the spring of even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 191 courts and approximately 111 judges in Nebraska. There are 7 supreme court judges and 47 district court judges. Supreme court judges, district court judges, juvenile court judges, and judges serving in the Omaha and Lincoln Municipal courts are appointed initially by the governor. At the conclusion of the first 3 years following their initial appointments, these judges must face election for retention in office. If retained, they serve for 6 years. County court judges are elected on a nonpartisan ballot to serve initial terms of 4 years, after which they run for retention. If retained, they also serve 6-year terms. One elected sheriff is authorized in each of 93 counties.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are a total of 1,069 school districts divided into 6 categories on the basis of the kinds of services offered and the size of the populations served. Elected and appointed boards serve the districts.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are some 1,157 special districts, served by 5,669 governing board members.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of New Hampshire is 920,610; the black population is 3,990, or 0.4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 697,000; and the black voting age population is 2,800. The total number of registered voters is 447,000.

FEDERAL: New Hampshire has 2 congressional districts. The black population of each is less than 0.6 percent.

STATE: New Hampshire has 24 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The 400 seats in the House are filled from 161 districts. All members of the General Court serve 2-year terms. The General Court convenes in Concord.

COUNTY: There are 10 counties and 30 county commissioners in New Hampshire. Most commissioners are elected by district to 2-year terms. Four counties elect commissioners at large; 2 of those counties have district residence requirements.

MUNICIPAL: Thirteen cities, which have been established by legislative act, represent New Hampshire's municipalities. There are also 224 townships. About 822 officials serve on municipal governing boards. Most elections are held in the fall; however, the frequency varies by municipality.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 87 courts in New Hampshire are served by 137 judgeship positions. There are 5 supreme court judges, 15 superior court judges, and 17 municipal court judges. All judges are appointed and serve until age 70. The registrar of probate for each probate court is elected and serves 2 years. One sheriff is elected for a 2-year term in each county. One elected constable is authorized for each town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Of the 169 school districts, 160 are independent fiscally and administratively. There are 788 board members, who serve 3-year terms. Most are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 113 special districts governed by 299 elected board members.

NEW JERSEY

196 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of New Jersey is 7,364,823; the black population is 925,066, or 13 percent of the total; total voting age population is 5,544,000; and the black voting age population is 610,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,726,000; the number of black registered voters is 363,000.

FEDERAL: New Jersey has 14 congressional districts. The Tenth District (Newark) has the largest percentage of blacks, 55 percent.

STATE: The state legislature is composed of a Senate and a General Assembly. The Senate has 40 seats; members are elected from single-member districts. There are 80 General Assembly seats; members represent 40 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; assemblymen serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Trenton.

COUNTY: There are 21 counties and 135 members of governing boards, which are called boards of chosen freeholders. Members, called freeholders, are generally elected at large to 3-year terms except in Atlantic, Essex, and Hudson counties, which elect some freeholders by district.

MUNICIPAL: There are 335 municipalities designated as cities, towns, boroughs, and villages. There are also 232 townships. There are 3,028 elected members of municipal governing boards. Election schedules vary in cities, towns, and boroughs. Elections in most townships are held annually. There is some flexibility in the type of government a municipality may choose, but all municipalities are governed by some form of municipal council.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Most of New Jersey's 845 judgeships are appointive. There are 630 courts. In addition, there are 7 supreme court judges, 21 judges in the appellate division of the superior court, and 236 superior court judges. Only the 21 surrogate judges in each county are elected to serve 5-year terms. Municipal judges are appointed for 3-year terms, and tenured judges serve until age 70. There are 21 elected sheriffs.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 548 school districts in New Jersey, served by 4,777 elected school board members. Board members serve 3-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 454 special districts governed by 600 board members.

FEDERAL: New York has 34 congressional districts. Five districts have black populations of 40 percent or more. They are the Sixth District (Queens), 50 percent black; the Eleventh District (Brooklyn), 47 percent black; the Twelfth District (Brooklyn), 80 percent black; the Sixteenth District (Harlem), 49 percent black; and the Eighteenth District (Bronx), 44 percent black.

STATE: There are 60 seats in the state Senate, with members elected from single-member districts. There are 150 seats in the Assembly, with members elected from different single-member districts. All legislators serve terms of 2 years. The New York legislature convenes in Albany.

COUNTY: Five counties, called boroughs—Bronx, Kings (Brooklyn), New York (Manhattan), Queens, and Richmond (Staten Island)—are substantially consolidated into one governmental unit as the city of New York, which is classified as a municipality. There are 57 other counties and 1,089 governing board members, who are usually called legislators or supervisors. Board members generally serve either 2- or 4-year terms and are elected by district.

MUNICIPAL: There are 618 cities and villages classified as municipalities. In addition, there are 930 townships. There are 4,938 municipal governing board members. The minimum population requirement for incorporation as a village is 500. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 2,495 judgeships. There are 7 appeals court judges, 24 judges in the appellate divisions of the supreme court, and 263 supreme court judges. Most judges are elected and their terms vary. Judges for the court of claims, the New York City Criminal and Family courts, and some courts that govern small areas are appointed. There are 57 elected sheriffs; 126 elected and 19 appointed coroners serve 3-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 726 school districts of various types. Most are administratively and financially independent. Only 5 are classified as agencies of local governments. The total number of school board members in New York State is approximately 5,245; most are elected. New York State also has 44 Boards of Co-operative Education Services (BOCES), which are consolidated school districts established to provide specialized educational services. The 369 BOCES board members are elected not by the public at large but by the component school boards, and are therefore not covered by the Roster.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 923 special districts.

NORTH CAROLINA

294 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of North Carolina is 5,881,766; the black population is 1,318,857, or 22 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,417,000; and the black voting age population is 897,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,584,000; the number of black registered voters is 391,000.

FEDERAL: North Carolina has 11 congressional districts. The Second District (Durham) has the largest percentage of black residents, 40 percent. It is followed by the First District (Cape Hatteras), which is 35 percent black. Other districts with substantial black populations are the Third District (Goldsboro) and the Seventh District (Fayetteville), both 27 percent black; the Ninth District (Charlotte), 23 percent; Sixth District (Greensboro), 21 percent; and Fourth and Eighth Districts (Raleigh and Salisbury), 20 percent each.

STATE: The General Assembly has 50 seats in the Senate; members are elected from 27 districts. There are 120 seats in the House of Representatives; members are elected from 45 districts. All legislators serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Raleigh.

COUNTY: There are 100 counties in North Carolina and 300 county commissioners. Most commissioners are elected at large. Only 8 commissioners from 2 counties are elected by district. Most commissioners serve either 2- or 4-year terms; in Scotland County, commissioners are elected to 4- or 6-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 484 cities, towns, and villages classified as municipalities. Approximately 2,300 council members serve on governing boards for 2- or 4-year terms as specified by municipal charter.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 691 judgeships and 202 courts in North Carolina. All judges are elected, except for magistrates and special judges of the superior court. The 7 supreme court justices, 12 court of appeals judges, and 66 superior court judges serve 8-year terms. Most constable, coroner, and marshal offices have been abolished. The 100 sheriffs serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 201 school districts, which are run by local governments. Of the 201, 100 are county districts, 43 are city districts, and 58 are community colleges. All county districts have elected boards of education. Of the city districts, half have appointed boards and half have elected boards. The state has 950 elected board members. Most school board elections are held every 4 years; terms are usually staggered.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 321 special districts, run by special boards, most of whose members are appointed. However, 452 board members are elected.

NORTH DAKOTA

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of North Dakota is 652,717; the black population is 2,568, or 0.4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 473,000; and the black voting age population is 1,900. The total number of registered voters is 415,000.

FEDERAL: The state of North Dakota constitutes one congressional district. Blacks are less than 0.4 percent of the state's population.

STATE: The Legislative Assembly comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. The 50 Senate seats represent single-member districts; the 100 House seats represent 49 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Assembly convenes in Bismarck.

COUNTY: There are 43 counties and 215 county commissioners in North Dakota. Commissioners are elected by district to 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 365 municipal governments designated as cities. In addition there are 1,360 township governments. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation. Approximately 5,770 elected officials serve on municipal boards. Most cities hold elections every 2 years, in even-numbered years, and townships hold elections annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: All 286 judgeship positions in North Dakota are filled by nonpartisan elections. The 5 supreme court judges serve 10 years; the 26 district court judges, 6 years; and all other judges, 4 years. There ae 53 elected sheriffs.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 325 school districts and 293 public school boards. North Dakota school boards have a total of 1,652 members, all of whom are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 692 special districts and 2,952 elected governing board members.

OHIO

199 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Ohio is 10,797,630; the black population is 1,076,748, or 10 percent of the total; total voting age population is 7,793,000; and the black voting age population is 717,000. The total number of registered voters is 4,956,000; the number of black registered voters is 470,000.

FEDERAL: Ohio has 21 congressional districts. The Twenty-first District includes Cleveland's East Side and has the largest percentage of black residents, 62 percent. The Third District (Dayton) follows with a black population of 18 percent.

STATE: The Ohio General Assembly comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the House of Representatives. Members of both the Senate and the House are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Columbus.

COUNTY: There are 88 counties and 264 county commissioners in Ohio. They are elected at large, and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 941 municipalities in Ohio classified as cities and villages. There are 1,319 townships. The townships are governed by 3,967 members of boards of trustees. Municipalities are governed by 5,890 council members and commissioners, who serve 2- to 4-year terms. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 614 judgeship positions in 266 courts, excluding the mayor's court judges. There are 7 supreme court judges, 52 appeals court judges, and 321 judges in the courts of common pleas. With 2 exceptions, all judges are elected to office for terms of 6 years. County judges serve 4 years. In the mayor's court, the mayor acts as a judge for the length of his term. All judicial elections are nonpartisan. A sheriff and a coroner are elected to 4-year terms in each of Ohio's 88 counties.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 669 school districts in the state. The 362 local school districts are part of 87 county school districts.

All school districts have elected school boards. Most boards are comprised of 5 members elected to 4-year terms. A few city school districts have 7-member boards. School board elections are held in odd-numbered years and are staggered. In addition, there are 49 joint vocational school districts, whose board members are appointed. The state Board of Education consists of 21 members—one elected from each of the congressional districts; they serve staggered 6-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 377 special districts. Most board members are appointed; 488 are elected.

122 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Oklahoma is 3,025,290; the black population is 204,674, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,299,000; and the black voting age population is 138,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,437,000; the number of black registered voters is 82,000.

FEDERAL: Oklahoma has 6 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Sixth District, which is 10 percent black and includes Oklahoma City. The First District, which includes Tulsa, is 9 percent black.

STATE: The Oklahoma legislature members are elected from 48 single-member Senate districts and 101 single-member House districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Oklahoma City.

COUNTY: There are 77 counties and 231 county commissioners in Oklahoma. All are elected by district and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: Oklahoma has 581 municipalities and 2,471 governing board members. Council members and aldermen, who sit on city boards, serve 4-year terms. Trustees, who serve on town boards, are elected for 2-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Oklahoma has 251 courts with 390 judgeship positions. The 9 supreme court judges and judges of the 3 courts of criminal appeals are initially appointed by the governor and subsequently elected to 6-year terms. Six court of appeals and 202 district court judges are elected and serve 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. Municipal court judges are appointed by the mayor with consent of a municipal governing body. There are 77 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 638 school districts and about 3,000 board members. Most of the school districts are administratively and fiscally independent; 160 are agencies of local governments. Members of independent school boards serve 5-year terms.

Members of school boards that are agencies of local governments serve 3-year terms. Elections are held each year, in January and April.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 916 special districts and 1,631 governing board members.

PENNSYLVANIA

141 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Pennsylvania is 11,863,895; the black population is 1,046,810, or 9 percent of the total; total voting age population is 8,883,000; and the black voting age population is 720,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,419,000; the number of black registered voters is 426,000.

FEDERAL: Pennsylvania has 23 congressional districts. Two districts, each located in the city of Philadelphia, have substantial black populations. They are the First District, 32 percent; and the Second District, 80 percent. The Fourteenth District (Pittsburgh) also has a substantial black population, 22 percent.

STATE: The Pennsylvania General Assembly comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 203 seats in the House of Representatives; all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Harrisburg.

COUNTY: There are 66 counties and 216 county commissioners, who are elected for 4-year terms. In 63 counties, the governing bodies are elected at large and members serve on 3-member county commissions. The counties of Erie, Lehigh, and Northampton have home rule and a county council. The city-county of Philadelphia is counted as a municipality.

MUNICIPAL: There are 1,019 municipalities in Pennsylvania, including 52 cities and 967 boroughs. There are 1,549 townships. Approximately 12,300 municipal board members are elected, who serve 4-year terms. Municipalities may adopt home-rule charters that allow them to determine the structure of their own government and what services it will perform. A minimum population of 10,000 is required for municipal incorporation. Elections are held in November of odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT. There are 923 judgeship positions and 368 courts in Pennsylvania. Most judges, including the 7 on the supreme court, 15 on the superior court, 9 on the commonwealth court, and 309 on the court of common pleas, are elected in partisan elections to serve 10-year terms. Justices of the peace, municipal, district, and Philadelphia traffic court judges serve 5 years. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh city court judges are appointed by the mayor and serve 4-year terms. There are 66 sheriffs and 65 coroners, all elected to 4-year terms; 3,500 constables are elected, serving 6-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 514 school districts. Approximately 500 of these districts have elected boards, each of which has 9 members. The boards of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are appointed. Elections are held every 2 years, during the November municipal election.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 2,050 special districts or authorities are governed by appointed board members.

RHODE ISLAND

7 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Rhode Island is 947,154; the black population is 27,584, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 726,000; and the black voting age population is 18,000. The total number of registered voters is 488,000.

FEDERAL: Rhode Island has 2 congressional districts. Both have black populations of 3 percent.

STATE: The General Assembly, which convenes in Providence, comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the Assembly represent single-member districts and are elected for 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are no organized county governments in Rhode Island.

MUNICIPAL: There are 8 municipalities designated as cities and 31 townships governed by 248 board members, who serve 2-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 81 judgeship positions and 56 courts in Rhode Island. There are 5 supreme court judges and 19 superior court judges. Only supreme court judges are elected, and they serve for life. The governor appoints judges to the superior, district, and family courts. Town councils appoint probate or municipal court judges for varying terms. Sheriffs are appointed by the governor. One elected constable is authorized for each town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Of approximately 40 school systems in Rhode Island, only those in 3 regional districts are administratively and fiscally independent; 37 are agencies of local governments. Thirty-nine of Rhode Island's 40 school boards are elected. There are about 211 school board members. The municipalities that make up the regional school districts hold meetings to select regional board members. Fifteen members usually serve on a regional board.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 80 special districts and authorities served by 339 board members.

SOUTH CAROLINA
263 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of South Carolina is 3,121,820; the black population is 948,623, or 30 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,291,000; and the black voting age population is 625,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,235,000; the number of black registered voters is 333,000.

FEDERAL: South Carolina has 6 congressional districts. Each has a substantial black population. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Sixth District (Florence), which is 41 percent black. Three other districts are at least 30 percent black: the First District (Charleston), 32 percent; the Second District (Columbia), 35 percent; and the Fifth District (Rock Hill), 32 percent.

STATE: South Carolina's General Assembly has 46 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from 16 districts. The House has 124 members, who represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Columbia.

COUNTY: There are 46 counties and about 300 county council members, who serve 2- or 4-year terms. The number of members on each board ranges from 3 to 12.

MUNICIPAL: There are 265 cities and towns classified as municipalities and about 1,300 board members, who serve for 4 years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 790 judgeship positions and 665 courts in South Carolina. Five supreme court judges and 31 circuit court judges serve 10 and 6 years, respectively. Supreme, appellate, and circuit court judges are elected by the legislature. City court judges, magistrates, and family court judges are appointed by the governor. Probate judges are elected on a partisan ballot. There are 46 elected sheriffs and 46 elected coroners.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 92 school districts, and organizational patterns vary greatly. Twenty-nine are countywide districts, and 17 of these are administratively and financially independent. Members of countywide school boards are usually appointed by the governor. Other school districts are administered by elected or appointed boards of trustees. Most city school districts have boards of commissioners, whose members are appointed or elected. There are approximately 500 school board members in the state.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 242 special districts served by 343 elected board members.

SOUTH DAKOTA
0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of South Dakota is 690,768; the black population is 2,144, or 0.3 percent of the total. The total voting age population is 482,000; and the black voting age population is 1,400. The total number of registered voters is 367,000.

FEDERAL: South Dakota has 1 congressional district. Blacks constitute less than 0.3 percent of the population.

STATE: The legislature comprises 35 seats in the Senate and 70 seats in the House of Representatives; members of the Senate and the House are elected from 28 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Pierre.

COUNTY: There are 64 county governments; 12 elect commissioners at large and 52 elect commissioners by district. The 286 county commissioners are elected to 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 1,308 cities, towns, and townships, governed by 4,386 board members. In most municipalities, elections are held annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The state Judicial Department was reorganized in 1975 when district, county, municipal, justice-of-the-peace, and police magistrate courts were abolished. There is now one supreme court with 5 judges, and 8 circuit court systems. Circuit courts have 36 judges, who are elected to 8-year terms. A magistrate division of the circuit courts was established and there are 94 magistrates, who are appointed. Each county elects a sheriff and a coroner for 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 196 school districts and approximately 1,120 elected board members. School board members serve 3-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 199 special districts and authorities; they are served by 681 elected board members.

TENNESSEE

133 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Tennessee is 4,591,120; the black population is 725,942, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,375,000; and the black voting age population is 479,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,302,000; the number of black registered voters is 322,000.

FEDERAL: Tennessee has 9 congressional districts. The Ninth District (Memphis) is 57 percent black. Other districts with substantial black populations are the Third District (Chattanooga), which is 12 percent black; the Fifth District (Nashville), which is 22 percent black; and the Eighth District (Shelby County North), which is 20 percent black.

STATE: The General Assembly, which convenes in Nashville, comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the House of Representatives. All members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 94 counties. In most counties, the governing body is the court of quarterly sessions. Board members are usually called magistrates. All board members are elected by district following a 1974 U.S. Supreme Court decision. There are about 2,025 county governing board members, who serve 6-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 335 municipalities and 1,628 elected governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 200. The consolidated Nashville-Davidson County Metropolitan Government is also counted as a municipality. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 458 judgeship positions in Tennessee. Most judges serve 8-year terms. There are 5 supreme court judges, 12 appeals court judges, 9 criminal appeals court judges, 27 chancery court judges, 58 circuit court judges, 26 criminal court judges, and 5 law-equity court judges. Magistrates serve 6-year terms. There are 94 elected sheriffs and 2 constables per district. They serve 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 147 school districts in Tennessee. All are independent administratively and fiscally. There are approximately 750 elected school board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 469 special districts and authorities. Most board members are appointed; however, 570 members are elected.

TEXAS

228 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Texas is 14,229,191; the black population is 1,710,175, or 12 percent of the total; total voting age population is 10,793,000; and the black voting age population is 1,198,000. The total number of registered voters is 6,303,000; the number of black registered voters is 678,000.

FEDERAL: Texas has 27 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Eighteenth District, which is 41 percent black and includes the city of Houston. Other districts with substantial black populations are the First and Fifth Districts (Texarkana and Dallas North), both 20 percent black; the Ninth District (Beaumont-Galveston), 21 percent; the Twenty-fourth District (Dallas), 32 percent; and the Twenty-fifth District (Houston South), 25 percent. Eight other districts have black populations of at least 10 percent.

STATE: The Texas legislature has 31 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The House of Representatives has 150 members, all elected from 101 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives, 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Austin.

COUNTY: There are 254 counties, and 1,270 members of governing bodies called commissioners, magistrates, or judges. Of these, 1,016 are elected by district and 254 are elected at large. Each county elects 5 members—4 district members and 1 at-large member. All members serve 4-year terms. County boards are called commissioner courts.

MUNICIPAL: There are 1,121 cities, villages, and towns. The minimum population required to incorporate is 200. Municipal elections are held annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are about 2,000 judgeship positions in Texas. There are 9 supreme court judges, 9 court of criminal appeals judges, 79 court of civil appeals judges, and 347 district court judges. All judges are elected, with the exception of some members of the municipal courts, who are appointed by the municipal governing body. The terms of municipal court judges vary in length from one year to an indefinite period; terms of other court judges are specifically for 4 or 6 years. There are 254 elected sheriffs and 750 constables in Texas. All serve 4-year terms. In addition, one marshal is elected for each municipality.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 1,124 school districts in Texas, including 47 college districts, which are administratively and financially independent. Approximately 7,700 persons serve on the school boards. All are elected, and 90 percent serve 3-year terms. Others serve for 6 years. Elections are held each April.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,681 special districts in Texas and 7,585 board members; 4,912 members are elected.

UNITED STATES VIRGIN ISLANDS

46 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of the Virgin Islands is 96,569; the black population is 76,951, or 80 percent of the total; total voting age population is 54,773; and the black voting age population is 40,760. There are 30,065 registered voters.

FEDERAL: The U.S. Virgin Islands, which includes St. Thomas, St. John, and St. Croix, is a territory of the United States. In 1917, the islands were purchased by the United States from the Danish government for defense purposes. Virgin Islanders, who are U.S. citizens, are represented in the U.S. House of Representatives by one nonvoting delegate. The Virgin Islands constitutes one congressional district. The U.S. Department of the Interior appoints a U.S. comptroller for the islands.

TERRITORIAL: The legislature of the Virgin Islands is unicameral. It comprises 15 senators, who are elected from the 3 islands. One senator is elected at large. All legislators serve for 2 years. The governor and lieutenant governor serve 4-year terms. The governor appoints an administrator for each island.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 2 court systems in the Virgin Islands, the federal court system and the local territorial court system. The U.S. District Court, located in St. Croix and St. Thomas, has 2 judges and 2 magistrates who are appointed by the president of the United States. The territorial court, which has a court in St. Croix, St. Thomas, and St. John, has 8 judges, all of whom are appointed by the governor with approval from the Senate. Territorial judges serve for 6 years or until a successor is designated.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The Virgin Islands has 2 school districts, which are agencies of municipal governments, 36 public schools, and a 9-member Board of Education, which is elected on a nonpartisan basis. The board is an agency of the territorial government. School board members are elected every 2 years, during the general election of senators.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are airport, harbor, water, and power authorities. Board members for the authorities are appointed by the governor.

UTAH

1 Black Elected Official

POPULATION: The total population of Utah is 1,461,037; the black population is 9,225, or 0.6 percent of the total; total voting age population is 986,000; and black voting age population is 6,900. The total number of registered voters is 696,000.

FEDERAL: Utah has 3 congressional districts. The black population of each district is 1 percent or less.

STATE: The Utah legislature, which convenes in Salt Lake City, comprises 29 seats in the Senate and 75 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 29 counties in Utah. Counties are grouped into 6 categories based on their assessed valuations. First-class counties, which have the highest valuation, are assessed at $150 million or more. In contrast, sixth-class counties are valued at less than $5 million. There are 94 county commissioners, most of whom are elected at large. They serve 2- or 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: Utah's 224 municipalities are governed by 971 board members, who serve for 4 years. Municipalities are classified by population size. First-class cities have at least 100,000 residents. Second-class cities have 60,000 to 99,999 residents. Third-class cities have populations of 800 to 59,999. The minimum requirement for municipal incorporation is 100 people. Municipal elections are usually held every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are about 125 judgeship positions and 120 courts in Utah. Along with circuit court judges, 5 supreme and 25 district court judges are initially appointed by the governor. Supreme court judges serve for 10 years; district and circuit court judges serve for 6 years. Justice court judges serve for 4 years and are elected in each precinct, except in towns where justices of the peace are appointed. There are 29 elected sheriffs in Utah. All serve 4-year terms. Utah has no elected coroners.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 40 school districts, 1 in each county and 1 in each first- and second-class city. In addition, some populous counties have more than 1 school district. County and city districts have elected boards. There are about 202 board members. All serve 4-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 211 special districts, governed by 426 elected board members.

VERMONT

1 Black Elected Official

POPULATION: The total population of Vermont is 511,456; the black population is 1,135, or 0.2 percent of the total. The total voting age population is 379,000; the total number of registered voters is 273,000. Both the black voting age population and the number of black registered voters are less than 1,000.

FEDERAL: The state of Vermont constitutes one congressional district.

STATE: The General Assembly, which convenes in Montpelier, has 30 seats in the Senate and members are elected from 13 districts. There are 150 seats in the House of Representatives and members are elected from 72 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 14 counties in Vermont and 28 assistant judges, who serve as the principal county administrators. Counties perform limited functions, chiefly maintaining the courthouse and county jail. Each county elects 2 governing body members.

MUNICIPAL: Vermont has 294 municipalities—57 cities and villages and 237 townships—which are governed by 1,081 board members. Most municipal board members serve 1- or 3-year terms. Elections are held annually. A minimum of 30 houses is required for municipal incorporation.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 72 judgeship positions and 48 courts in Vermont. Five supreme, 10 superior, and 14 district court judges are appointed by the governor. These judges serve 6-year terms. Probate court judges and assistant judges of the superior court are elected and serve 4-year terms. Fourteen sheriffs, one per county, are elected to serve for 4 years. Each town elects 1 or 2 constables, who serve for 1 year.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 273 school districts; all are administratively and fiscally independent. Approximately 1,250 school board members serve on elected boards. Their terms range from 1 to 3 years. Elections are held each March.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Vermont has 83 special districts governed by about 240 elected board members.

VIRGINIA

107 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Virginia is 5,346,818; the black population is 1,008,668, or 19 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,078,000; and the black voting age population is 714,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,414,000; the number of black registered voters is 383,000.

FEDERAL: Virginia has 10 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Portsmouth) has the largest percentage of black residents, 40 percent. Other districts with substantial black populations are the First District (Newport News), 31 percent; the Second District (Norfolk), 23 percent; the Third District (Richmond), 28 percent; and the Fifth District (Danville), 25 percent.

STATE: The General Assembly has 40 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from 38 districts. There are 100 seats in the House of Delegates, whose members are elected from 52 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; delegates serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Richmond.

COUNTY: Virginia has 95 counties with 498 county board members. Most board members are elected by district to serve 4-year terms. Six counties elect members at large.

MUNICIPAL: There are 229 municipalities, including 41 cities that lie outside county boundaries and perform city as well as county functions. Towns incorporated after July 1, 1971, must meet the minimum population requirement of 1,000. Cities must have more than 5,000 residents. There are 1,360 municipal governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: All judges are elected by the General Assembly. Seven supreme court judges serve 12-year terms, 113 circuit court judges serve 8-year terms, and district court judges serve 6-year terms. There are 136 elected sheriffs, one for each of the 95 counties and 41 independent cities. There is often one elected and one appointed sergeant per town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 139 school divisions, including 94 county school districts and 45 city school districts. City and county school systems, administered by appointed boards, are regarded as agencies of the city and county governments. There are approximately 820 trustees.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 83 special districts; 228 of the 505 board members are elected.
